Life Liners Inc. Merges with Northern Neighbor

Life Liners Inc. has completed an agreement with Stanfield's Limited of Truro, Nova Scotia, Canada for the acquisition of the assets of our Flame Resistant Knit Fire Fighting Hoods Product Group.

Stanfield's had its beginning in 1870 when Charles Stanfield began to manufacture woolen long underwear in Truro Nova Scotia. Today in addition to sweat shirts and many styles of knit wear, they produce a full line of Men's, Women's, and Youth base layer garments. In Canada Stanfield's is a household word.

In July of 2005 Stanfield's began to manufacture the Protective Hood and Knit Shirt line that it acquired from Nova Scotia Textiles, Limited. Nova Scotia Textiles hoods are very similar to Life Liners and have wide acceptance in the Canadian industrial market. The Life Liners hoods will be manufactured exactly to Life Liners current specifications and will continue to be marketed under the Life Liners brand name.

Stanfield's vertical integration, resources and the scope of their operations will provide a good platform for continued growth and success in the Flame Resistant Knit Fire Fighting Hood Safety Market throughout the United States, Canada and overseas. They have 400 employees in Canada and 300 more in two American subsidiaries.

Stephen Asthalter, Life Liners previous owner, will represent the FR hood and knit shirt product line as an independent sales agent in the United States. His office number is 973-829-0642, Fax 973-829-0757, Cell 973-432-9480. His e-mail is steve.lifeliners@verizon.net.
